PAUL REDWOOD

Armed with a sense of fun he also launched himself upon the world of comedy, albeit in a slow laidback way. At first things were tough, gigs were sparse, his hair already thinning. Paul soon realised that the best way of doing it, was doing it yourself. And The Rib Tickla Comedy Club was born.

He has been gigging now for over 6 years, and now has a style and presence that is unique. His use of props is fast becoming legendary.

He is both inventive and enthusiastic, traits that bring surprises and laughs galore.

Confident as a compere or set comedian, the audience always enters into his world, whereupon he will offer advice, and his view of life to great effect.

ALEX DAWSON

MC:JIM GRANT

Over the years Jim has been a professional comedian he has seen and compered every conceivable audience. These range from the east end of London, to northern working men's clubs, and black tie formal dinners. He has even performed a gig on a metal platform, suspended above a shark tank when he compered the Brighton Fringe Festival opening gala in 2005. It is this MC experience, combined with a warm and friendly persona, innovative material that helps make Jim such a bookable act both for live work and TV
